

THE RISING TIDE.

The wave of popular opinion in favor of silver is gaining daily in height and volume. The candidate who has presidential aspirations must ride upon its crest or be buried at its base. In each of the big conventions the gold men have had active workers and they have attempted to throttle silver speeches. In each case they have failed and the very mention of the word silver caused the hall to shake with applause.

The National Convention of Republican Clubs is to assemble at Cleveland Ohio, in a few days. The delegates to that convention from several States insist upon discussing the silver question in the convention. Though there is an apparent majority opposed to such discussion, the silver men are active and declare that they will not be gagged. The delegates from Colorado were instructed to advocate and vote for a free coinage resolution in the convention, and the delegates from Montana say they will leave the convention unless the free coinage of silver is recognized. Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, Senator Dubois, of Idaho and Senator Teller, of Colorado, will favor free coinage and insist that the Convention shall adopt a resolution demanding the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Senator Teller declares that he has cast his last vote for a Presidential candidate who is not unequivocally for free coinage, which means that the four electoral votes of Colorado will not be given to a golding Senator Cameron is a power in Pennsylvania politics and a possible candidate for President, and the gold men fear that a revolt under his leadership would make Pennsylvania a doubtful State. Senator Dubois has a large following in Idaho and he is satisfied that his State cannot be carried by a gold candidate.

Taken altogether the outlook is more favorable for silver than it has been since 1878. It is conceded to be the greatest issue before the American people. The farmers of the South and West have discovered that it affects them as much as it does the owners of silver mines, and express a determination to throw off the shackles which bind them to party, and support no man for President who is not unequivocally for free coinage, and on a free coinage platform.

Nevada Democrats.

The Democratic State Central Committee that met at Virginia City among other resolutions adopted the following:

Resolved, That the Democracy of Nevada note with heartfelt gratification the earnest efforts of their brethren in other States to make free and unlimited coinage at the established ratio, the paramount issue of the coming National campaign. As representatives of the Democrats of this State, this committee most unqualifiedly pledges a delegation from Nevada to the next National Convention which will insist upon the adoption of a resolution unequivocally demanding the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at a ratio of 16 to 1, and the nomination of candidates known to be in sincere sympathy with such principle.

The Salt Lake Tribune in discussing the libel laws says: Courts and law-makers seem to have been struggling for two hundred years to see just about how much barbarity they could cause to attach to libel laws, and all sorts of characterless assassins, loafers, political swindlers, trust breakers and abusers of helpless children, together with the shyster lawyers who come to their aid, have thriven in the meantime, because evolution is wearisome and the scales of justice are marvelously slow in their swinging.

A New York preacher used this language in a sermon on the income tax decision: "Think of the spectacle of our great jurist and legal thinkers degrading the high intellectual gifts of God to the service of Mammon. The courtesan of the street who sells herself for the price of sin is a vestal virgin compared to the man who for a price sets his great abilities to perpetuate the poverty of the poor and relieve the riches of the rich of a righteous return to the government that protects them." Hot stuff that.

Now that James Henry is in the custody of the officers at Carson, we wonder what the Tribune, News and Enterprise will howl for next.—Independent.

They are now howling because he isn't sent back to Colorado.

California fruit is lower this year than ever.
